

Private

Irabu Island S Residence

A holiday home on the coast with a glorious view of the Pacific.

Starting Point

The living space gives way to the infinity pool and is a transparent open room supported only by walls made from Ryukyu limestone. On the ocean front, the living area is partitioned off by a solid 30m glass window, providing an unobstructed view of the sea.

ilove385.co.jp

Solution

To protect from prying eyes, in particular around the back window, the client sought a privacy shield without losing the original feeling of openness.

Blinds help to recreate the lost privacy while retaining the architecture's lightness. The semi-transparent fabric with a natural texture that was chosen for the blinds perfectly goes with the holiday home's luxurious ambience.

Object

Irabu Island S Residence / i love 385,
Irabuirabu, Japan

Concept

Irabu Island S Residence / i love 385,
Irabuirabu, Japan

Photos

Tololo studio, Hiroshi Tanigawa, Japan

Textiles Used